21AAR was founded in June 2011 by Miguel Miranda. Since geopolitics and the international arms trade spans regions and societies 21AAR's focus is not always confined to its core subject matter.

This is because the critical details underpinning the shape and form of hard power exercised by modern states are often elusive and ambiguous. Uncovering these details requires keen instincts and a historical perspective.

With evolution as its driving force advanced weapons and modern governments are transforming in unexpected and fascinating ways. 21AAR tries to make sense of this process and embraces the dramatic sweep of history with excellent content.

AllSecurityEvents.com is the new source of information for Security Conferences, Exhibitions, Seminars, Webinars, Networking and Charity Events... globally.

It enables event organisers and professional bodies to plan their activities to avoid clashes and maximise attendance by promoting them to the widest possible audience.

Security Professionals can plan their time better and attend events of interest to them without being presented with the dilemma of choosing which of three events to attend on any given day.

We are working with several partners to both promote visitors to the site and event listings and to distribute our Events Newsletter
